Diversity: Six Women At Play

"The creation of something new is not accomplished by the intellect but by the play instinct acting from inner necessity. The creative mind plays with the objects it loves."

-- Unknown

We each have our daily commitments and to get away from this grind, we access our creativity and find an artistic outlet to express ourselves. This is where the play, the inner joy is released. We hope the viewer picks up this sense of play in each artist's work. The individual styles come from the distinct creativity of each artist.

We are happy to present this body of work for your visual enjoyment.
